Kennedy Asks Enlargement of the FPC

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to enlarge the Federal Power Commission as a step to reducing its backlog of cases and clearing projects which would put more persons to work.

The President's request to increase the commission from five to seven members was in a special message on the federal regulatory agencies. He appealed, too, for the exemption of some small individual natural gas producers from rate regulation.

At the end of February, the President reported, the FPC had 193 applications proposing construction of 5,761 miles of natural gas pipelines at a cost of $850 million. This, he said, involved an immense potential for creating new jobs.

"It is not to be assumed that all these applications would be granted," Kennedy said, "but it can safely be assumed that more dollars for construction, giving substantial employment throughout the country and making firm commitments out of orders for materials that are now merely contingent — orders that in turn would provide jobs for men and women in mills, factories and foundries."

Further, Kennedy said, there are now some 4,000 rate increases by natural gas producers and pipelines pending before the power commission "and still unresolved."

He noted that such increases are usually temporarily suspended but said that under existing law they become effective automatically, subject to possible refund six months after the original filings unless the commission acts on the proposals one way or another.

"This incredible backlog of cases, consisting frequently of rate increases piled upon rate increases, involved hundreds of millions of dollars deemed ultimately refundable to the consumer," he said.

In this connection, the President endorsed a recommendation by a Senate subcommittee that the FPC be empowered "to make sure that any excess rate which is ultimately disallowed will be returned to the consumer" by requiring deposits of collections in escrow until the rate is finally approved.

He asserted Congress should provide exemption from rate regulation for small individual natural gas producers handling less than 2 billion cubic feet a year and now accounting for only about 10 per cent of total interstate sales.

Also, he said pipeline extensions to benefit existing customers and which do not invade another supplier's territory should be given partial or full exemption from the usually lengthy FPC permit procedure.

Kennedy singled out the FPC for specific recommendations in a message, calling for more speed and efficiency in all federal regulatory agencies.

These include, in addition to the power commission, the National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency and Federal Maritime Board.

Dallas Judge to Speak Here

THE HOPE LIONS CLUB WILL HAVE AS GUEST SPEAKER, May 8, Judge Bill Richburg, a now famous "dicta" tosser who recently was compared to the incomparable Justice Holmes in Paul Crum's column of the Dallas Morning News.
Judge Richburg's most recent famous dicta allowed that a defendant before his court who had visited Hope, Ark. "had been punished enough — I've been to Hope."

So the Lions Club will play host to Judge Richburg, May 8, and arrangements are nothing short of elaborate. Following a "trial" before the club, Judge Richburg will be allowed to throw out some more dicta, if he then desires.

5 Charged With Illegal Registration

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —

Five Fayette County Negroes have been arrested and charged with illegally registering to vote in this civil rights storm center.

Sheriff C. E. Paltat said the five had been stripped of their right to vote because of prior convictions on felony charges. He said the arrests were made on evidence pieced together by agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

The felonies of which the Negroes allegedly had been convicted were not disclosed.

Fayette and neighboring Haywood County, both predominantly Negro, have been torn by racial tension since Negroes began registering in numbers to vote in the 1960 elections.

Whites in both counties have been named in pending Justice Department suits charging them with economic reprisals against Negroes who registered.

Cement Men Slow Work at Dam

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) —

A dispute involving nine cement finishers has interrupted work on the new Greers Ferry dam near here, but a union official said today he will try to get the controversy ended.

The cement finishers, employed by the Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co. of Boise, Idaho, did not report for work Tuesday.

Don W. Henderson, business agent for Plasterers and Cement Masons Local 270 of Little Rock, said the dispute involves hazard pay — a 25-cent-per-hour differential for work at certain heights on the dam under certain conditions.

V. H. (Bill) Williams, secretary-treasurer of the Central Arkansas Building and Construction Trades Council, said he thought the stoppage was due to a misunderstanding. He said he would try to set up a meeting to resolve the dispute.

Hermit Called a Mental Case

accused of shooting a deputy sheriff and staging a five-hour gun battle with police will be kept at the State Hospital for treatment.

A hospital spokesman said Wednesday that 35-year-old Willie Albert Ballard, a former mental patient, had been adjudged mentally ill. The hospital said there has been no determination yet on his father, Wes Ballard, who also was arrested in the gun fight.

Both Ballards were charged with assault with intent to kill after Deputy Sheriff Reed Fike, 47, of Strong was shot as he approached the remote barn home near Strong. Officers pulled down the old building and subdued the men after the prolonged exchange of shots.

Fike had gone to talk to the Ballards about a horse. The horse was killed in the shooting, but there were no other casualties.

Teachers May Invest in Housing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state

Teacher Retirement System board is considering investing $3 million in federal housing and corporate bonds under new authority granted by the 1961 legislature.

The board met today to discuss the possibility.

State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton, the board chairman, said any action would be cautious. Hayle Pyle, director of the system, said it doesn't have $3 million to invest now, but that it will have by July 1.

The 1961 legislature authorized the board to extend its investments to corporate bonds. The 1959 legislature granted authority to invest in federal housing mortgages, but no such investments have been made yet.

The Retirement System now has $30,349,000 invested in U.S. Treasury bonds and in public school and college bonds. The rest of the system's $42 million reserve fund is in various other accounts, Clayton said.

Teacher retirement was a major controversy in the 1961 legislature. The Arkansas Education Association fought to have state contributions to the system pegged at 9.72 per cent of teacher salary. The legislature passed a bill to this effect, but also passed one backed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus setting the contribution at $3.7 million this year and $3.9 million next year — slightly more than the 5 per cent the governor at first proposed.

Faubus vetoed the AEA bill. Teachers contribute 5 per cent of their salaries — about $3 million a year.

Witnesses Called in Rand Case

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

The state today began presenting witnesses in an attempt to link Mrs. Virginia Rand of Rogers with H. V. (Buddy) Clark, the man for whose death she is being tried.

In the second day of testimony in her second degree murder trial, a prosecution witness, H. E. Boydston, testified that he had seen Mrs. Rand and Clark pass his grocery store on a number of times in 1958 and 1959.

He also said he had seen them together once on Lake Atlanta near Rogers.

Under cross-examination, Boydston said it was daylight when he saw them at the lake. He could not name another couple which he had seen pass his store in a car during that same period.

The state contends Clark was killed while trying to break off an affair.

Earlier, two Rogers doctors, Dr. Greer Warren and Dr. Stuart Wilson, testified that three bullets penetrated Clark's chest.

They said the bullets entered the body at a downward angle and that two bullets traveled parallel to the skin before entering the chest cavity. Two of the shots were sufficient to have caused death, they said.

Opponents Call Omnibus Bill Shotgun Grab

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.

Orval E. Faubus' $16 million omnibus expenditures law was described Wednesday by opposing attorneys as a "shotgun, grab bag appropriation" or "sound fiscal control."

Eugene R. Warren, attorney for Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell, who filed suit challenging the constitutionality of the law, termed it a "grab bag." Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Holt Jr. defended it as sound.

The opposing views were aired at a 90-minute hearing before Chancellor Guy Williams. Attorneys have until noon Friday to file briefs, at which time Williams will take the case under advisement.

Warren contended that the bill violated constitutional provisions requiring unity of purpose in appropriations acts. He said the only unity in the omnibus bill was that all items were for construction and all concern money.

Then he said of a $2 million item for teachers' salaries that "by no stretch of the imagination could this be considered a construction item, unless it's to construct good will for the governor."

Warren argued that the law gave Faubus a "blank check" to transfer money from surplus revenue to a debt service fund should voters approve a proposed $60 million bond issue which is a companion measure in the governor's $76 million construction program.

He also charged that the law delegates legislative authority to the executive branch by creating a State Construction Board, headed by the governor, to allocate the funds.

Holt said that the vastness of modern state government demanded such methods of appropriating surplus funds. He said the omnibus law "is not a construction bill but a disbursement and allocation bill" and that it had unity of purpose because all items allocated surplus revenue.

"If this act is unconstitutional, then the entire framework of our stabilization system is unconstitutional," Holt insisted. "We'd have to keep the legislature in session all the time to call back the old system of appropriating every single item."

He contended that the omnibus act supplemented the Revenue Stabilization Bill as had other previous legislation passed to distribute surplus revenues.

Holt also denied that the State Construction Board was granted legislative power under the law.

Attorneys for three agencies which have intervened in the suit spoke briefly after the main arguments. They represented the Livestock Show Association, Arkansas Children's Colony and University of Arkansas. All defended the law.

The omnibus act provides money for a variety of construction projects and other items. The proposed bond issue would provide funds for construction at the University of Arkansas and state colleges, the Children's Colony and the State Hospital.

Faubus has said that if the bond issue fails, he will call a special legislative session to re-allocate the surplus revenue of the omnibus law to meet immediate state construction needs. He has not said what action he would take if it is declared unconstitutional.

Cottrell's suit is expected to be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court regardless of how Williams decides.

Omnibus Bill Is Now $14.5 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.

Orval E. Faubus' one-time $16 million plus omnibus bill is now a $14.5 million omnibus law.

A recheck today showed the total of possible expenditures under the law, now being challenged in the courts, is $14,545,000.

The measure started off at the higher total and passed the Legislature that way.

Faubus, however, vetoed two appropriation items, one of $1.6 million for a Revenue Department building and the second of $250,000 for buying additional land near the Capitol.

Other arrangements were made for financing the building, and the proposed land acquisition was abandoned.

Birch Society Head Hissed, Applauded

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —

Applause liberally sprinkled with boos and hisses greeted a speech Wednesday night by Robert Welch, head of the right-wing John Birch Society.

A crowd of 1,100 — many heckling — jammed a high school auditorium as Welch gave essentially the same speech he had delivered to applause and cheers in Los Angeles the evening before.

His theme: Communists and Communist sympathizers are infiltrating the government and Protestant ministry.

After the speech Welch held a question and answer session that he cut short when a college student began asking questions from the floor. Welch said he did not wish to turn the evening into a debate.

Welch, founder of the society which describes itself as militant anti-Communist, was interrupted by applause 10 times. But there were also hisses and boos from a group of college students.

They were especially noisy when Welch attacked Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Rubinoff on Tour Most of the Year

When you see and hear Rubinoff and his violin in concert here

Friday, May 5, at the High School Auditorium, you will share one day out of the nine months he spends each year touring the nation.

These nine months will add up to some 125 cities visited, 250 matinee and evening concerts played with an additional 1250 free performances at service clubs, luncheons, hospitals, radio broadcasts, and with at least 1000 of these free appearances before students in school assemblies.

A day with Rubinoff is a whirlwind of activity—he is up at four and five o'clock in the morning and as a rule travels one or two hundred miles before breakfast.

Weekends are usually spent in cross country train and plane flights. If the schedule permits, he will visit four or five churches on Sunday morning. Red Oak, Iowa, holds the record for the most churches visited in one morning. The Ministerial Association there presented him with a beautiful Bible in recognition of his playing for seven churches.

Sorry He Met Helpful Man

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Linwood

Busick of Little Rock is sorry he met up with the hitchhiker who tried to rob him two years ago.

Busick told police that he barely escaped when the rider tried to rob him. Wednesday, he spotted the man on a downtown Little Rock street and confronted him.

The man socked Busick, breaking his nose and knocking out two teeth.

A helpful passerby drove Busick to a hospital in Busick's car. As the injured man was checking into the hospital, the would-be helper drove off — with Busick's car.

Jury Rules Wreck Was 'Unavoidable'

In Hempstead Circuit Court

here yesterday a jury ruled "unavoidable accident" in a civil suit in which James Clifford Briggs and others sought judgment amounting to $73,000 from the Vernon Calhoun Packing Co.

The suit resulted from an automobile-truck collision. F. C. Crow was attorney for the plaintiffs and W. S. Atkins and Otto Atchley, attorneys for the defendants.

No Evidence of Criminal Intent

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A

Sebastian County Grand Jury says its investigation of the Fort Smith School District has found no evidence of criminal intent except on the part of one man who has pleaded guilty to embezzlement.

The investigation began after Preston Rose, 37, former school maintenance superintendent, pleaded guilty to 18 counts of embezzlement.

In an interim report Wednesday, the jury said it found no evidence of other wrongdoing.

The jury recommended, however, that the school board hire an accountant to audit school funds. It also said that a lack of "an realistic system of checking" permitted Rose to embezzle funds from the district.

Segregation Case Opens at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Trial of

federal court suit to desegregate Memphis public schools resumed today with the Board of Education contending that school segregation here is voluntary and therefore legal.

The trial opened Wednesday with defense attorneys arguing that the state's pupil assignment act never had been tested by Negroes here as a possible instrument for ending city school segregation.

The law sets up numerous specifications for assignment of pupils to schools, but race is not among them.

Mrs. Constance Mulvey of New York, a specialist in segregation cases for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said it was plain Memphis school segregation is compulsory, not voluntary.

Mrs. Mulvey said, "our position is there's nothing voluntary about it. We're not trying to get any particular pupil admitted to any particular school. This is a suit to enjoin the policy of operating schools on a segregated basis. The pupil assignment law does not apply."

The suit was filed for six Negro children. It says they were barred from white schools solely because of race—even though they live in predominantly white areas.

The defense said no actual ground for the suit exists because none of the parents involved has gone all the way through school procedures set up for reassignment of the child to the school of choice.

Weightlessness State Described by Astronaut

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Yuri A.

Gagarin said today he worked on his notes, and even ate and drank while objects were floating around in the realm of weightlessness as he orbited the earth, the Soviet News agency Tass reported.

The Soviet astronaut, Tass said, described the eerie situation in the space ship when weightlessness took over.

The entire flight, he asserted, was work all the way and particularly in that phase.

Even so, he said, he felt excellent during that period of his 108-minute flight.

As he waited in the Soviet interior for a hero's welcome in Moscow Friday, the 27-year-old astronaut told for the first time about his experiences as his five-ton space ship hurtled around the earth. Premier Khrushchev is expected to cut short his vacation at the Black Sea resort of Sochi to head the welcoming committee when Gagarin arrives in Moscow about noon.

When he became weightless, Gagarin said, it became easier to do everything.

"This is quite natural," he commented. "One's legs, arms weigh nothing, objects float in the cabin. Neither did I myself sit in the chair as I did before that, but hung in midair. While in the state of weightlessness, I ate and drank and everything occurred just as it does here on earth."

"I even worked in that condition, wrote, jotted down my observations. My handwriting did not change although the hand does not weigh anything. Only I had to hold the notebook, otherwise it would float away. I maintained communications over different channels and tapped the telegraph key."

Gagarin said he learned first-hand that weightlessness does not deprive a man of an ability to work, Tass reported.

"The transition from weightlessness to gravitation," he said, "to the appearance of the force of gravity, is smooth. One's legs and arms feel as before, as during weightlessness, but again acquire weight. And I am no longer hovered over the chair but eased myself into it."

As to what he saw from space Tass said Gagarin reported:

"I did not see the moon. The sun in outer space is tens of times brighter than here on earth. The stars are visible very well. They are bright and distinct. The entire picture of the firmament is much more contrasty than when seen from the earth."

Gagarin said the sunlit side of the earth was quite plain and he could see easily the shores of continents, islands, great rivers, folds of the terrain, large bodies of water, Tass said.

Flying over the Soviet Union, he reported he could see the great squares of the collective farms and could even tell cultivated from meadow land.

Emphasizing he was no mere passenger as his space ship circled the earth at a maximum altitude of 168 miles, Gagarin told Tass:

"I was entirely concentrated on carrying out the flight's program. I wanted to carry out every point of the assignment and to do it as well as possible. There was a lot of work. The entire flight meant work."

While the space ship was under ground control for the landing, Gagarin helped with the control phases, Soviet scientists said when the historic flight was announced Wednesday.

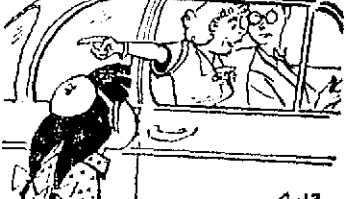

The hero of the Soviet Union has been promised a tremendous reception by Khrushchev.

"We shall celebrate with you with all our people, this great feat in the conquest of outer space," the premier told Gagarin by telephone.

Banners were going up in Red Square, the show case for the biggest Soviet celebrations. Tall, silver-colored flag poles were in place. Crowd barriers were being put up.

GM Indicted for Sales Monopoly

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. has been indicted on a charge of criminally monopolizing production and sale of diesel locomotives.

The corporation is scheduled to plead in federal district court next Monday. If convicted, it could be fined up to $30,000.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that the charge against GM—violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act—resulted from a two-year investigation.

The indictment says GM used illegal sales methods to suppress competition and capture more than 84 per cent of the locomotive business for its electromotive division.

Citing GM as "probably the nation's largest shipper of freight," the indictment charges that GM routed shipments to favor purchasers of its locomotives, and withheld or reduced patronage to lines buying diesel locomotives from GM competitors.

Other accusations are that GM took part in drawing up specifications for use in bidding—shutting out other manufacturers from competition—and selling locomotives at a loss wherever it had competition.

GM entered the locomotive industry in 1930. In 1960, it had total net sales of $12.7 million. The government charges that GM had acquired 84 per cent of the locomotive business, and since 1946 sold locomotives with a total value of $2,681,545,429.

Pair Admits to Holdup Series

ARK. (AP)—Two Saline County men who were arrested near Rison early Wednesday have admitted a series of holdups in a three-county area which totaled $1,500, State Police said.

Sgt. L. K. Caldwell identified them at Little Rock, as Eugene Greer, 27, of Bauxite and Marion Claude Berry, 27, of Vimy Ridge. They were apprehended several hours after the robbery of a grocery store and service station near Little Rock, officers said.

The men were taken into custody by Cleveland County Sheriff Homer Morrison who said he received a tip that a car answering the description of the one the robbers were driving was seen in this area.

Morrison said Greer and Berry had two pistols. They offered no resistance.

The men were held without formal charge.

Caddo River Dam Start Is Fixed

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Work on the $30 million DeGray Dam on the Caddo River near Arkadelphia could start during the 1963 fiscal year.

George A. Morris, chief engineer of the Army Engineers district office at Vicksburg, Miss., gave that hopeful report to the Arkadelphia Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

He said the present Engineers budget contains $389,000 for continuing exploratory work at the dam site on the Caddo River.

The multi-purpose dam would be 1,400 feet wide and 200 feet high, he said.

HERE IS HELP

FOR YOUR SPRING WORK!
MOST IMPORTANT IS TO VACCINATE AGAINST DEADLY CALF-KILLING DISEASES!

IF BLACKLEG or Malignant Edema strikes your calves, they're dead. There is nothing halfway about these fatal infections. Vaccination is the only known protection. Your surest prevention is to immunize with Franklin Triple Bacterin — the POTENCY-TESTED BACTERINS — constantly tested and checked through all steps of production, which assures maximum high potency and complete sterility.

To assure broadest antigenicity, not one, but multiple selected strains of C. chauvei (blackleg) and C. septicum (malignant edema) are used in each dose.

These highly virulent and antigenic seed cultures are jealously maintained in Franklin's own culture "farm" under rigid system of continuous checking and testing. Only those that rate highest in resistance-building qualities are used.

Through continuing research the Franklin laboratory achieves intensive growth and high antigen concentrations. Chemical reinforcement slows down tissue absorption, thus prolonging the immunity response and thereby developing the high levels of resistance for which Franklin is so famous.

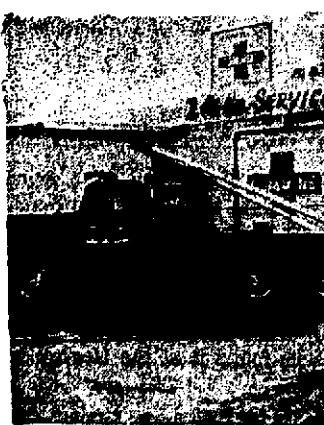

There's a difference in Blackleg and Malignant Edema Bacterins. That difference is fully explained and illustrated in color in the 1961 Franklin catalog.

Sassy Daughter A Problem

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have a 15-year-old daughter who is lazy, indifferent, flippant and impudent to us, her parents. I work nights, leaving the house at six p.m. Her father is home nights. Our daughter is expected to do after-supper tidying up. She rushes through to get to TV. Can you make any suggestions for better relations between us?—Worried Mother

Dear Worried Mother: Your daughter sounds like a typical adolescent at bay. Her flippancy and rudeness are a cover-up for insecurity. She no more comprehends the transition from childhood to womanhood than you and your husband comprehend this alien individual who suddenly supplants the little girl you loved.

Life is confusing and disturbed for her. She is blindly resentful, especially of parents who impose restrictions and issue orders. Every time she is impudent, she is instinctively asserting her independence. Until her thinking matures, she hasn't earned it and therein lies the trouble. Point this out to her. My leaflet, "How to Get Along with Your Adolescent," might be helpful.

Does your daughter regard you as a friend as well as mother? Have you ever discussed sex with her? Keep your sense of humor. Remember, this is a time when she needs all the understanding, wisdom and love her parents can give her.

Dear Helen: I am engaged to a young man who has had an involved and unhappy childhood. He is 20, usually broke and content to sleep his life away. I fear he will not make a good husband but, I love him and he loves me, so I try to be patient and help him forget his early unhappiness. Still, he doesn't change.—Wits End

Dear Wits' End: If a man doesn't reform before marriage he won't after. Don't let misplaced mother love lead you down the wrong road. Lack of ambition is caused either by mental laziness or physical weakness. Medical or psychiatric help might be indicated.

Dear Helen: We live in a rural town of 1,650 people. Our residence is on a main thoroughfare one block from a street light. Last year a boy was walking our 15-year-old daughter home from some school or church activity. When he saw the porch light on he failed to escort her to the house. Now my daughters and wife tell me that no boys will ever bring these girls home if I insist upon leaving on the porch light.

I was reared in a rural community where a yard or porch light to welcome one home brought a feeling of security and a knowledge that we children were awaited by those who cared. Can you throw a little light yourself on this problem?—Don't Want to Be in the Dark

Dear Don't Want to Be in the Dark: You're right and the wife and daughters wrong. Who ever heard of a decent boy being porch-light shy? Those who duck it are up to no good. Keep that friendly beacon shining as a symbol of security to your family. They'll remember and thank you the route from the airport to Red Square. As he awaited his flight by jet liner to Moscow, the man few in the Soviet Union knew before Wednesday's dramatic announcement was the toast of the nation. Soviet writers interviewed him at an air center somewhere in the interior. He told of the wonders he had seen from the space ship, of the earth appearing blue beneath him, the sky black overhead.

He still wore his blue space suit and helmet as he spoke to a correspondent for the armed forces newspaper Red Star.

"I feel well, as you can see I am safe and sound. The flight proceeded successfully. The equipment worked extremely well. I am boundlessly happy that it has fallen to my lot to open to mankind the way into space," Red Star quoted him as saying.

Weird Play Is Fatal to Phils as Dodgers Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If there was one phase of baseball which Manager Gene Mauch stressed with his young Philadelphia Phillies in spring training, it was base running. "Mistakes cost you games," he said, "and most of the mistakes our kids make are on the bases."

The point was driven home at Los Angeles Wednesday night as the Phillies ran themselves into a weird doubleplay that squelched a ninth-inning rally and gave the Dodgers a 3-2 victory while leaving the Phils wiser but wimser.

It was one of but two games played in the majors. The San Francisco Giants also survived a ninth-inning threat and beat Pittsburgh 2-1 in the only other game scheduled in the National League. Two games were scheduled in the American League — Chicago at Washington and Los Angeles at Baltimore — and both were rained out.

The Phils' folly came after the Dodgers had broken through against Frank Sullivan, making his NL debut, with three runs in the seventh on Wally Moon's homer and a scratch single by winning pitcher Johnny Podres.

Trailing 3-1, the Phils got rid of Podres when Johnny Callison and Tony Taylor opened the ninth with singles. Callison took third when rookie Willie Davis bobbled Taylor's hit to center and scored on a high bounce to the left of the mound by pinch-hitter Tony Curry. Taylor scooted to third on the play when reliever Larry Sherry's peg to the plate was wild.

Pinch-hitter Tony Gonzalez forced Curry for the first out, but the Phils were still in business, with runners on third and first as pinch-hitter Bob Sadowski came to the plate. That's when the Phils' boobies popped up — and an alert Dodger defense shot 'em down.

Asks Return of 43

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command today demanded immediate return of 43 South Korean fishermen and six boats it charged North Korean Communists seized off Korea's east coast Friday.

The U.N. officers also charged at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission that Communist ships violated South Korean waters and attacked South Korean naval craft. The Communists charged it was the South Koreans who had violated North Korean waters.

Female Guanaco Back in Zoo

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — A female guanaco is safely in the zoo here after two adventurous escapes that finally ended at Steele, Mo.

The South American animal, related to the llama, was being transported from Nashville, Tenn., by Marvin Reynolds, owner of a Paragould zoo, when it first escaped near Camden, Tenn.

After a chase of nearly one-half mile the frisky critter was apprehended with the aid of Camden area residents and Reynolds resumed his journey.

Nearing Paragould, Reynolds again discovered his unwilling traveler had broken loose from the horse trailer in which it was being transported.

Early Wednesday Steele, Mo., police notified Reynolds that a nearby farmer, who could hardly believe his eyes had caught the guanaco after a highway chase in a truck and across a field.

Life Around Sections of Arkansas

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

A couple of dogs went fishing near Conway the other day. They had pretty good luck, too.

Ralph R. Harrell, who lives near Mayflower, said the two border collies toiled home three totesacks full of carp (of course, they didn't sack the fish — they just caught them).

He explained that the fish went up Palarm Creek near the Lake Conway dam during recent high water and got stuck there.

The collies, he said, would wade into the shallow water, grab a fish and haul it to shore. One big carp nearly dragged one dog under water, he added.

Fishermen ganged the area to take advantage of the fish fluke. It got so crowded, in fact, that one unidentified Jacksonville man couldn't get hook-wetting room. So he paid another fisherman $2 for his bank space.

Tom Olmstead of Heber Springs is an active man. When a fire destroyed three big warehouses recently, Tom left a church social to go—filling four jobs at the same time.

He is assistant fire chief, a civil defense leader, provides ambulance service and reports news for a Little Rock newspaper.

Tom's day didn't end when the fire was out, either. He led singing at church, then went to a dance.

Riley Reed of Springdale is one postman who doesn't get chased by dogs. A cocker spaniel is his daily companion on the route.

The dog, Pepper, started accompanying Reed on his 15-mile jaunt several months ago. Now it's a ritual—and Pepper won't go along with a substitute or any other letter carrier.

A bandit who demanded a bottle of whisky from a Pine Bluff liquor store clerk almost got the booze, but not in the fashion he intended.

The robber stuck a toy pistol in the back of Mrs. Dorothy Jones and demanded liquor.

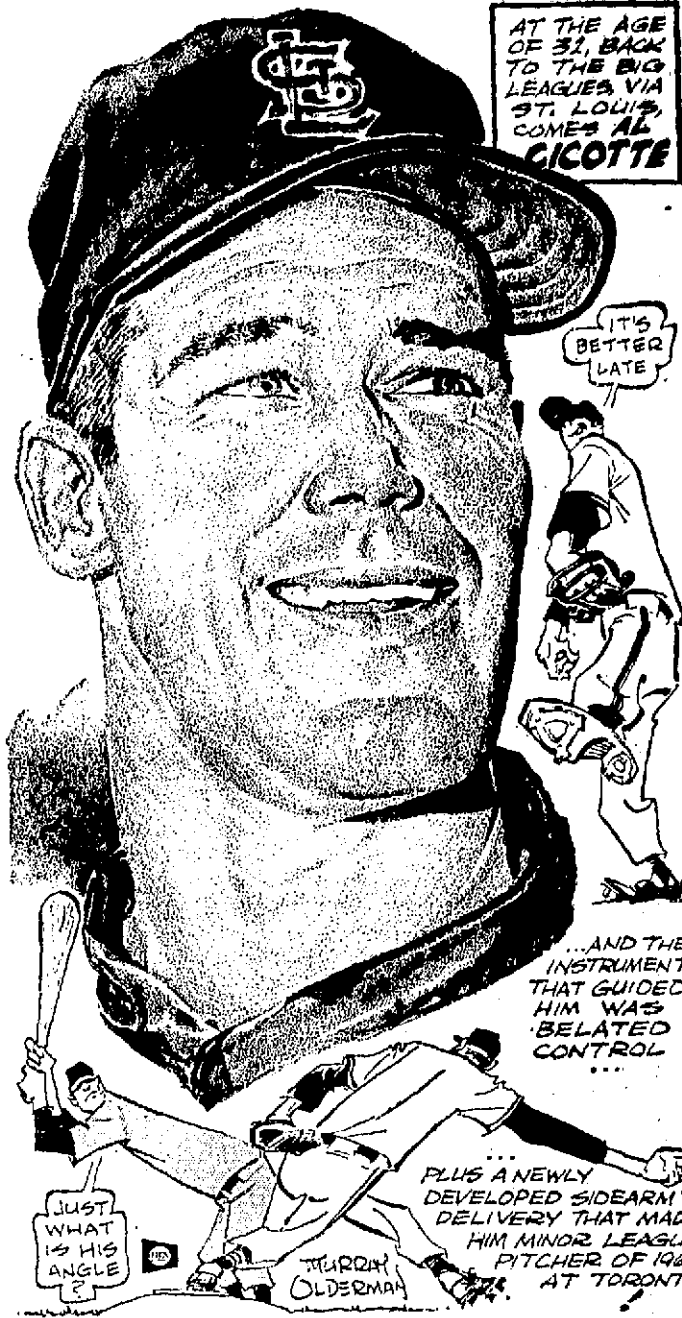

Mrs. Jones screamed and turned around. The holdup man fled—and narrowly missed getting hit by the bottle Mrs. Jones heaved at him.

Faubus May Sign Dentists Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus indicated Tuesday night he might sign a bill providing $34,000 to educate dentists outside the state if it is introduced in the 1962 legislature.

Faubus, speaking at the Arkansas State Dental Association meeting here, reiterated his reason for vetoing a similar bill. He said the money could be better spent.

The ASDA backed the first proposal which would have provided $34,000 each year for the next two years to aid dental students from Arkansas who attended schools outside the state. Arkansas has no dental school.

The ASDA passed a resolution calling for resubmission of the legislation to the next General Assembly.

Dr. C.W. Nickles of Walnut Ridge was elected president of the association.

Meet of Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy meets with top State Department officials today on the eve of his conference with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, undersecretary George Ball and Walter Downing, the U.S. envoy to Bonn, were scheduled to confer with Kennedy late in the afternoon.

That ad appeared just two items below an ad, signed by the same man, offering a cow for sale.

Better Days Talked to Stockholders

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Better times ahead are the soothing words being passed out these days at many stockholders meetings.

The annual gatherings of the owners of American businesses are in full swing. In many cases soothing words are needed.

Some meetings are seeing, and more will see, bitter fights on management by dissidents who say they could do better.

Many others are hearing sobering accounts of shrinking profit margins last year. They are being warned that profit and loss statements on operations in the first three months of this year often will make a sad showing against year ago figures when corporate affairs had yet to feel the recession.

But running like a common thread through the opening speeches of many company executives to the stockholders is the assurance: The worst is over.

Part of this optimism is based on internal housekeeping. Many companies have cut costs or modernized equipment so that plants can now operate more profitably.

And many have perked up their sales departments so that outlook for orders is much better.

Much of the optimism is based on the general expectation of a pickup in business activity. Many stockholders are being told there is nowhere to go but up.

Stock market activity is drawn on heavily in these arguments as indicating there is a better tone in public opinion. And that is a prime factor in the health of most companies.

Stockholders are also being told that however they may regard the new climate in Washington, the efforts at pump priming are likely to have some effect before many more months. And the prospects of more of the same to come will affect both business and consumer spending.

And any company providing one or more of the endless products used in the many phases of national defense can at least hope for more orders.

The Soviet triumph in orbiting a man around the earth seems sure to loosen congressional pursestrings even more. The race to catch up with and surpass the Russians, when translated into dollars, means more spending — certainly not less.

Sea Master Dies

LONDON (AP) — Giles C. Stedman, one of the sea's master life savers, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at his London home Monday.

Stedman, 63, was a veteran of both world wars, a leading American passenger liner skipper between the wars, commandant and later superintendent of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., from 1942 to 1946. At his death he was vice president in charge of the United States Lines' foreign operations.

Rondo cemetery, near Texarkana, contains the graves of 35 unidentified Confederate soldiers belonging to a regiment swept by disease while stationed at Rondo.

Redear Bream: 1 lb., 12 ozs., Bear Skin lake, E. W. Roberts of Jacksonville, Arkansas.

Bluegill Bream: 1 lb., 12 ozs., private pond in Independence county, Mary Baxter of Cushman, Arkansas.

Official Arkansas fish records were not kept until the summer of 1959, when the Game and Fish Department established a "set of standards" which must be complied with before a catch is accepted for record. These standards are:

1. The fish must be caught from Arkansas waters, excluding hatcheries and similar installations.

2. The fish must be witnessed by a second party before being removed from the vicinity of the water from which it was caught.

3. The catch must be made on hook and line attached to a rod or pole while held in the hands of the fisherman.

4. The fish must be weighed on a standard weight measurement (post office scales, grocery store scales, etc.) in the presence of a game warden or other employee of the Game and Fish Department, and one other witness.

The G&F reminds that care should be exercised in proper identification of certain species, especially the difference in spotted and largemouth bass, also bluegill and redear bream.

Trying to Sell Bonds to State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Finance consults today with representatives of the city of Dardanelle who want the state to buy $150,000 worth of industrial development bonds.

The city has a $400,000 bond issue programmed, and Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Monday city officials have a firm commitment from bond brokers for purchase of $250,000 of the issue.

Dardanelle proposes to use its bond issue to buy an existing factory building for lease to Arkansas Valley Industries.

The bonds are issued under Act 9 of 1960, a law permitting cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to build industrial plants.

The state may buy up to $2 million worth of Act 9 bonds, but so far none of the cities and counties which have issued such bonds has asked the state for help.

The Dardanelle bonds would be retired by rentals paid by the industry. The bonds were approved by voters in a special election last year.

Motor Firms Has New President

DETROIT (AP) — John Dykstra is the fourth of six presidents of the Ford Motor Co. with no middle name or initial.

The only exceptions have been the first president, John S. Gray, and Robert Strange McNamara, who served for two months last year before becoming secretary of defense.

SOLUNARTICS—This fine string of largemouth bass was taken by Buck Rogers, right, and companion, both solunar enthusiasts. They landed these at major activity period.

Variety of Things in Medical News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chubby children, lonely alcoholics, and a view about heart attacks figure in the medical news: Roly-Polies

Parents often express pride their children are chubby, and thus well-fed. But actually excess fat is not good at any age, warns the Nutrition Foundation.

It reports much evidence that overweight youngsters are more handicapped in their performance socially, mentally and physically than most parents realize.

A longing for companionship rather than a longing for alcohol sends many alcoholics back to bars and renewed drinking, French researchers theorize.

In their view, many people are simply afraid of being alone, particularly in big cities. So alcoholism may be largely a social rather than medical problem, they hold.

Too Little Thyroid
Lack of thyroid hormone produces emotional or personality changes similar to those of neurotics. The thyroid patients become extremely tired, their thinking is clouded, memory for recent events is impaired; they are likely to become irritable, nervous, emotionally explosive, and to suffer from insomnia.

Fats, Diet and Heart
Too much fat in the diet is being blamed by some experts for setting the stage for heart attacks and strokes.

But the amounts of fats consumed may not be so important as the efficiency with which the body can dispose of fats circulating in the bloodstream, seven different medical studies suggest.

This efficiency can vary with individuals, of course. Some of the reports, made to the Angiology Research Foundation, find that an anti-coagulant drug, heparin, helps clear fats from the blood.

Replies Filed in Omnibus Law Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for Gov. Orval E. Faubus and other defendants and intervenors today filed their first replies in Rep. J. H. Cottrell's suit challenging constitutionality of Faubus' $16 million omnibus law.

The pleadings were demurrers — brief statements contending that the Pulaski legislator's complaint did not furnish a proper basis for a suit.

Chief Assistant Atty. Gen. Jack Holt Jr. filed a blanket demurrer for all defendants and intervenors. In addition, layers for some intervenors filed separate demurrers.

Opposing attorneys planned to try to fix a date for a hearing on the suit.

Wednesday has been tentatively picked.

High School Playoffs Set by Association

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Athletic Association will vote Nov. 3 on a proposal to revise high school football playoffs.

The football committee of the Arkansas High School Coaches Association Wednesday came up with a final draft of a playoff plan, the fifth version proposed.

The new plan calls for no changes for the Big Nine or Class AA schools. The only change in Class A would be to shift Watson Chapel, Dollarway and White Hall schools in the Pine Bluff area from District 8 to District 6.

In Class B, District 7 would be divided into separate districts. Hughes and Parkin would be shifted from District 6 to District 3 and District 3 also would be divided. District 6 also would be split, and District 5 would be eliminated. These changes would leave eight instead of six districts.

If approved by the AAA, playoffs would begin in the 1962 season. The plan is for playoffs to begin the week before Thanksgiving and end within two weeks after that holiday.

Basketball and track districts would not be changed.

Southwestern Relays Start

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Prep school track meets from Class B and C schools in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas kick off the 33rd annual Southwestern Relays today.

The relay carnival is the oldest in the South.

Some 1,785 athletes from 102 high schools will participate in the prep divisions today and tomorrow.

Guilty of Liquor Law Violation

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — A White County Circuit Court jury Tuesday found Ole Fox of Judsonia guilty of violating the county's liquor laws and assessed a fine of $3,500.

Fox had appealed an earlier conviction and fine of $3,500 on six counts of liquor law violations.

He was the first person charged under an ordinance which went into effect Jan. 11 after residents voted "dry" in the November election.

TELEPHONE TALK

You Can Improve Service

Almost every day we have reports to our repair department that someone on the party line has left their "receiver off the hook," or a report that they get a busy tone every time they call a certain number. When we test these reports we often find someone didn't make sure their receiver was placed back on the phone in the correct manner; this in turn causes these troubles. When your receiver is off the hook you often have your phone and someone else's phone out of service. You can't receive your calls, and you are using equipment in our central office that someone else might need to use, causing them delay in placing their calls. The only way we can clear this trouble is to dispatch a repairman to your home to hang up your receiver or disconnect your phone. Be sure your receiver is always on the hook when not in use regardless of whether you are on a party line or on a private line.

Spring Phone Fair

Well, by now most of us in Hope don't need the weatherman to tell us spring is here. There are signs of it everywhere. Have you noticed the kids lately . . . skipping rope, swinging bats, and chasing pop flies?

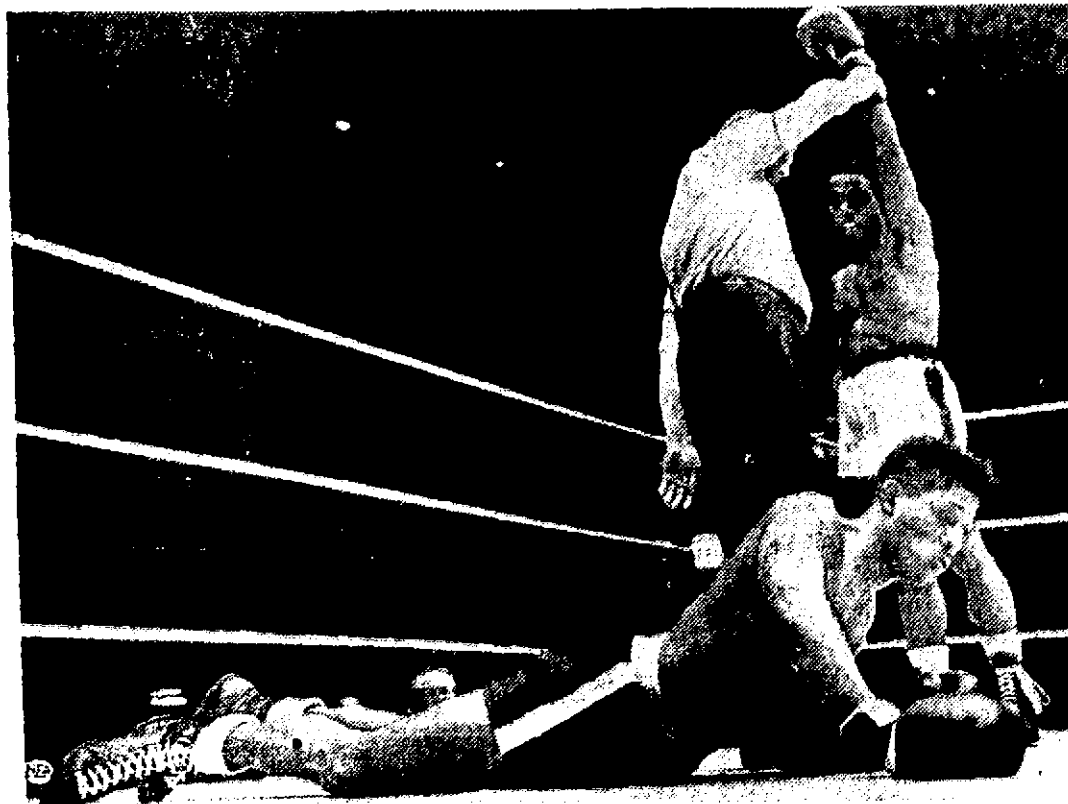

The grown-ups, too, are busy around the house, painting, and rearranging rooms, even adding to the house itself to make it more comfortable for the family.

We're busy at the telephone company, also, saluting spring with an event called "Spring Phone Fair." It is our way of reminding you about the many new telephone services we have to help you make your home more convenient and attractive.

For instance, how about a new phone in color for a bedroom or a wall phone for the kitchen den or work area? Perhaps you'd like the smart Princess phone for your living room . . . so little, so lovely and it lights. Or maybe you'd prefer the soft musical tones of the Bell chime. You can hear all about these new telephone services — and about Spring Phone Fair — by just calling or visiting the Telephone Business Office.

Call by number. We're twice as fast.

Better Days Coming, Is the Report

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The recovery watchers are out in force today. They hail every sign that better days are coming. They point eagerly to every report that the business downturn is slackening or leveling off.

Not even spring storms and the approach of income tax reckoning day can dim their joy.

Though this may prove to have been the mildest and shortest recession since the war, it is probably the most unpopular.

There was a sense of insult added to injury. The recession wasn't supposed to be. Instead we were supposed to be setting forth on the glorious Sixties.

Much worse, the recession built on top of already considerable unemployment and has carried it to seven per cent of the total labor force. Even the most optimistic of the recovery watchers don't sight any quick and easy solution, any sizable drop in the number out of work.

Those who are out early watching for the first flutter among the recession thickets are being rewarded.

The news in recent days has had more good than bad items—a welcome change after a nasty winter.

Steel mills report they are getting more orders. There's no runaway demand, but most companies now say their April business will top March, and May should bring a further advance.

Copper and some other non-ferrous metals are feeling better, too. The domestic demand has improved of late. Some foreign copper producing areas are gripped by political uncertainty, making the chances of overcoming the world surplus that much better. Copper scrap prices have risen, and U. S. producers talk of a coming rise in the price of refined copper, now 29 cents a pound.

Purchasing agents, who often are involved first in any changes in the economic trend, report that for the first time in months new orders and output have turned up at many of their plants. They also say their inventories have steadied, perhaps heralding the end of stock trimming.

Government statistics, necessarily trailing those of the purchasing agents, report that total inventories fell in February from January. And the biggest drop was in retail stocks. This is taken to indicate that manufacturers have completed their inventory adjustments and are again in a position to buy, while retailers should soon be, if they aren't already.

The figures also show that total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers increased in

Scrumptious Frozen Cream

This dessert is wonderfully good tasting because of the combination of flavors. The refreshing frozen lemon cream is smooth and velvety and accents the natural flavor of the fruit. Putting the fruit on top just before serving so that it is nicely chilled but not frozen hard enhances the fruity taste.

Frozen Fruited Velvet

1 can (14 1/2 oz.) evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
1 can (1 lb.) apricot halves
Mix evaporated milk, sugar and 1/2 cup syrup drained from apricots. Gradually add lemon juice, mixing well. Pour into a refrigerator tray; freeze until almost firm. Break into pieces and beat with an electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth. Add egg white and continue beating until fluffy. Pour into tray and freeze until firm. Arrange drained apricots over the frozen dessert 10 to 15 minutes before serving. Eight servings.

Overdue Plane Lands in Oklahoma

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A Federal Aviation Agency spokesman said here Tuesday night that a light plane reported overdue on a flight from Fort Smith to Longview, Tex., had landed safely at Pontau, Okla.

Arkansas State Police began a search for the plane when it was reported overdue at Gregg County Airport near Longview.

The bonds will be financed by a 10-mill tax.

nationalism.
Kennedy, 28 years later, also spoke of a frontier—but not the last one.

In accepting the Democratic nomination at Los Angeles last July 15, Kennedy said: "the problems are not all solved and the battles are not all won and we stand today on the edge of a new frontier."

Kennedy now was talking about the worldwide challenge of the future. Later, in his inaugural speech of Jan. 20, 1961, Kennedy picked the word "tide," which Roosevelt had used, to say it was "running out" on us.

But it was Roosevelt's thinking—developed the hard way, by trial and error, during the years of his presidency—which makes it possible now for Kennedy to think as he does and with such self-assurance in such fields as foreign aid (Roosevelt started it with lend-lease) and the recognition that the government has responsibility for the general welfare (Roosevelt accomplished this with Supreme Court backing in such fields as Social Security and unemployment pay).

All this had become an accepted part of American life by the time Kennedy ran for the presidency. His programs in one form or another are extensions of Roosevelt's programs, for example his request for medical care for the aged under Social Security and extended unemployment pay.

By the time Roosevelt died this country, no longer self-centered, had shaken off isolation and had entered deeply through war into international cooperation.

Kennedy is extending that and elaborating upon it, just as Presidents Truman and Eisenhower did.

The relief programs Roosevelt created for the hungry and jobless at home, over some intense opposition, were simply an early form of the Truman-Eisenhower-Kennedy foreign aid programs for backward peoples.

Thus Roosevelt, feeling his way and without a clear philosophy on it when he first took office, worked out basic policies, both domestic and foreign, which are still basic.

Says Learn to Live With Integration

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—The president of an international corporation with headquarters in Arkansas advises students to learn to live with the law on desegregation. "Don't think for a moment that our tensions between the races and the violence we have permitted to occur have not hurt us violently within and outside of this state," C. H. Murphy Jr. of El Dorado told a Hendrix College convocation Tuesday.

Murphy, president of the Murphy Corp., an oil concern, said that after the 1957 integration crisis in Little Rock he was told by French businessmen that the fact he lived in Arkansas oil hurt him in a deal for African oil.

Murphy also advised students not to seek unattainable goals. "Sweep aside your needs that are incurable and can't be attained," he said.

Earlier, millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller urged students to "open your eyes to the opportunities that exist in Arkansas." He also urged development of a two-party system in the state.

Murphy also advised students to examine chances in Arkansas, but not to remain in the state at all odds. "There are opportunities outside the state," he said.

Dr. David W. Mullins, University of Arkansas president, told students the state was on the threshold of "its greatest period of development."

FDR Helped Shape World of Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, who died 16 years ago Wednesday, wouldn't have trouble recognizing the world today. He helped shape it, the good and the terrible.

There are similarities, and differences, between him and President Kennedy. But much the latter is trying to do would hardly be possible without Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's early view of the world was more limited than Kennedy's. But the latter can thank Roosevelt for helping make his broader.

Before he died Roosevelt laid the groundwork for creation of both the United Nations and the atom bomb, the former a landmark in man's efforts for the good of mankind, the latter man's most terrible achievement.

Of all that has happened in these 16 years perhaps only two developments might surprise Roosevelt: the aggressive march of communism, which until World War II had stayed inside its own frontiers, and the freedom of colonial people.

By the time Roosevelt ran for the presidency in 1932 the country was sunk in depression. Even so he was not clear on how to handle it. He worked that out later.

In his San Francisco Commonwealth Club speech of Sept. 3, 1932—he said America was no longer a place of endless opportunity where a man could head west and settle on new, free land. There was no more frontier, he said, because the Pacific had been reached.

These were some of his words: "The turn of the tide came with the turn of the century. Our last frontier has long since been reached."

This was strictly a man thinking in national terms only. He later led the country into inter-

Two Questioned About Robberies

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two men picked up at Rison early today will be questioned about recent armed robberies in the Little Rock area, a State Police investigator said.

Sheriff Homer Morrison of Cleveland County said he and other officers captured the men asleep in their car on a rural road.

He said he had received a tip that a car matching the description of one used in a Little Rock holdup earlier had been seen in the area.

Morrison said the men, both believed to be in their 20s, had a .25 caliber automatic and a .38 caliber revolver.

The State Police investigator said the men would be questioned about two holdups today and also about a series of robberies last week near Hot Springs, Benton and Little Rock.

Two men got about $200 from a service station in Little Rock shortly after midnight today.

About four hours later, two men took about $100 from a produce market on Arch Street Pike, about four miles south of the service station.

No Spacemen Killed, Reds Say

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Have some Soviet astronauts been killed in space flight experiments before Yuri A. Gagarin's sensational trip?

No, Soviet officials insist.

But some Western sources say they believe one or a few Russians did perish in unsuccessful attempts. Brig. Gen. Don Plickinger, head of the medical section of the U. S. Air Force astronaut selection and training program, says he thinks so.

"Utter fabrication," is the Soviet reply.

Grapefruit Spring Plentiful

What would springtime dinners be without ham and Florida grapefruit? Although they usually appear on the menu separately, these two plentiful are a good team when prepared together as a dinner entree.

The juicy tartness of grapefruit goes well with ham and since the fruit lends itself to broiling it can be done right on the broiler rack with a thick ham slice. If you're not familiar with broiled or baked grapefruit, try it soon and see what a treat it can be. The heat seems to bring out the sunshine flavor of Florida's prize fruit.

This time of year brings lots of grapefruit from Florida to local markets so buy enough to serve them often as juice and halves, in salads and fruit cups, and in cooking.

Broiled Grapefruit and Ham
2 Florida grapefruit
1 ready-to-eat 1-inch thick ham slice
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon catchup
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco

Cut Florida grapefruit in half; remove core if desired. Cut around each section loosening fruit from membrane. Do not cut around entire outer edge of fruit. Place ham in pre-heated broiler; broil 10 minutes. While ham is broiling, blend together sugar, catchup and Tabasco. Spread part of the topping over cut surface of grapefruit halves. At end of 10 minutes, turn ham; spread with remaining topping. Place grapefruit halves on broiler rack with ham. Broil slowly 15 to 20 minutes, or until heated through. Yield: 4 servings.

Note: If desired, ham and grapefruit may be baked in a moderate oven, (350°F.) 45 minutes.

NOEL, Mo. (AP)—This picturesque Ozark Mountain town, which capitalizes on its Christmas name is up in arms.

The immediate reason: It was left off a new "Family Vacation Land" map issued by the state Highway Department.

It also complains that the department twice changed the number of the highway running through Noel last summer, making it hard for tourists to find the town.

The sister resort towns of Pineville and Southwest City also were left off the map.

So upset are citizens of the area that a large group met here Tuesday and formed a provisional government "of the territory formerly known as McDonald county and now as McDonald Territory."

County prosecutor Robert E. Yocum was named provisional attorney general and directed to draft a petition asking Missouri to cede the "territory," located in the southwest corner of the state, to Arkansas.

The provisional government said it would also consider asking to be given back to the Indians. The Indians, through Cherokee Chief Henry Saugee of Jay, Okla., have indicated they would accept.

Petitions outlining these aims are to be sent to the governors of Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The aim is to get the Missouri Highway Department to junk the offending vacation maps and print new ones showing Noel and its neighbors.

Their omission wasn't accidental, Robert Barron, speaking for the department, said "we felt the area was to be commercial and we didn't list any commercial attractions in the guide."

While the area feels it has been unjustly slighted, it doesn't deny being commercial. Thousands visit the area in the summer. In the winter people all over the country send Christmas cards to Noel to be postmarked.

But Noel, population 750, wasn't named after Christmas. It was named after Uncle Bridge Noel, who used to own most of the land hereabouts.

Foreman Okays Big Bond Issue

FOREMAN, Ark. (AP)—A $7.5 million bond issue to finance expansion of the Arkansas Cement Corp. here was approved by voters 284-1 Tuesday.

The company's capacity would be doubled and 60-70 employees added as a result of the expansion, officials said.

The bonds will be retired by rental payments by the company, an Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. subsidiary.

TEEN TREATS

'Go Native' With A Luau

In Hawaii, a luau is a special outdoor feast for a birthday or holiday. But fishnet, bamboo mats, a few coconuts and paper hibiscus can give anybody's family room an island atmosphere.

Add music, recorded—or "live," if there's a uke player in the crowd. And here's a menu featuring enough Hawaiian inspiration to satisfy even a luau chef himself. The convenience products involved give this party an easy-does-it air, too—even for the junior hostess. Recipes serve a full-course meal to 6—all were party-tested by Beth Hunt of Pillsbury's Jr. Home Service Center.

Hawaiian Kabobs: 1 can drained pineapple chunks; 3 washed, unpeeled oranges, quartered; 2 cored green peppers, cut lengthwise into 1-inch strips; 1½ lbs. cooked, boneless ham, cut into 1-inch cubes. Thread alternately on skewers. Brush with syrup, grill or broil 3-4 inches from heat for 3 minutes. Turn and repeat.

Scalloped Shrimp and Potatoes: add 4½ oz. can drained, bite-size shrimp with milk, as you prepare Pillsbury Scalloped Potatoes according to package directions.

Teeth May Cause Mental Illness

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bad teeth may cause mental illness, says a dentist who works with mental patients.

Dr. D. L. Mosely of Little Rock told a state convention of dental hygienists Monday that many of his patients at the State Hospital improve after dental treatment.

He cited the case of a 19-year-old girl who was "hard to deal with and quite hostile." This attitude, apparently caused by anxiety over her appearance, disappeared after a badly chipped front tooth was replaced with a permanent bridge.

It added that neglect of dental hygiene is common among mental patients.

Actress Is Just Right in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Michele stands a well-proportioned 5 feet 8. That is not towering by American standards, but her height makes her an oddity in her native France. A beautiful oddity.

"Most French actresses are tiny, with little wistful faces," she sighs. "As you can see, I'm not like that at all; I look more like a Scandinavian."

"There doesn't seem to be any room for me in French films or plays. I have done only three movies there. Many times when I am up for a role, I do fine until the leading man sees me. Then he turns me down because I am taller than he."

France's loss, Paramount's gain. Michele was signed for a leading role in the African epic "Hattari." Though her deal is only for a picture a year, Hollywood may claim her permanently. Michele admitted she wouldn't mind.

"I'm tired of Paris," she said. Michele indicated she was weary of the Paris movie crowd, too. Her reflection: "It's the same small bunch of people. They make the same movies about the same things—the things they talk about."

What is Michele like? "She's the Ingrid Bergman type," says director Howard Hawks, who discovered her. That isn't bad, but close resemblance to a star can blight a newcomer's career. Does that worry Michele?

"I don't mind if people think I look like Miss Bergman from a distance," she said. "I do mind if they think I look like her up close. I don't think I do."

Matter of fact, she also has the look of Grace Kelly, especially when she puts her cheaters on. If that combination can't succeed in Hollywood, what can?

something different—

Oatmeal Bacon Custard

During April, the Cereal Institute and the American Dairy Association jointly sponsor the Eighth Annual Spring Cereal and Milk Festival to promote the food values of this nutritious team. The cereal and milk serving is a good source of many nutrients. Few servings can make such a contribution to the satisfaction of daily nutritional needs at such low cost.

Oatmeal Bacon Custard is a unique way to combine the nutritious team of cereal and milk in a recipe. This bacon flavored custard makes a good main dish for brunch or luncheon. The creamy texture of the custard, due to the oatmeal and milk, makes a pleasant combination with smoky-flavored crisp bacon.

Oatmeal Bacon Custard

- 8 slices bacon, cut into ½ inch pieces
- 1 cup rolled oats, quick or regular
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon hickory smoked salt, optional
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten

Pan fry bacon until lightly browned and crisp; drain. Cook cereal as directed on package, substituting milk for water. Combine cereal with remaining ingredients; stir in bacon. Pour into 1½-quart shallow casserole. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) until done, about 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve hot at brunch or lunch. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

CHAPTER XXXIV

Waddell was about to lift down the shotgun when old Dad Weyl filled the office doorway. Dad came directly to the point.

"Mr. Millerson would like to see you at the store, Marshal. Right away. Spence—Spence Munger—he's gone all to pieces, talking and saying all manner of things—I"

When they reached the store the door was closed and locked, but at Dad Weyl's knock, Jack Millerson let them in, then locked the door behind them again.

At the far end of the counter, Spence Munger was hunched on a nail keg, his hands clenched between his knees in an effort to keep them from shaking.

Jack Millerson gruffly cleared his throat.

"All right, Spence. Here's Marshal Waddell. Tell him what you've told us."

For one swift glance at Waddell, Spence Munger tipped up a white and fear pinched face, then dropped back into his original position, lips working without sound. Waddell put a hand on his shoulder and spoke, not unkindly.

Then the words came in a rush, jumbled and almost incoherent. Waddell got the gist of a sordid picture.

Spence had tried to buck the tiger in Breed Garvey's deadfall. He had lost. Trying to recoup he had on several occasions taken money from the store cash drawer. This he lost, too. It was the old, old story.

Using the I.O.U.'s as a club, Garvey threatened all manner of things. But one day he offered to tear them up if Spence would get him information on when Jack Millerson would next be bringing in some specie from the Spanish Junction bank. In his fear and desperation, this Spence had done, and Garvey had sent a certain saddle drifter, Rube Kelton, out to make a holdup at Grizzly Spring. But the holdup hadn't panned out and Kelton got back to town with a bullet hole in his arm.

When Spence demanded the I.O.U.'s, Garvey refused to hand them over, saying that he'd hold them until Spence brought him information about the next specie shipment. All of which, gulped Spence, was bad enough. But it wasn't the worst.

Waddell's hand tightened on Spence's thin shoulder. "Of course not, Spence."

"What—what are you going to do with me?"

"There's the question of the money you took from the cash box. You'll have to straighten that out with your boss, Jack Millerson. I'm turning you over to him."

This word allayed only part of Spence's fears. "They'll be after me. And—"

"I don't think they will," Waddell broke in. "But I do want you to keep out of sight until I say different."

Shamed and shaken, Spence Munger got to his feet and shambled out through a rear door.

"I'm half way sorry for him," Waddell said.

"A pretty weak specimen for Geer and Garvey to send out to do their dirty work," Millerson commented. "You'd thought they'd picked a tougher man."

"Not necessarily," Waddell differed briefly. "Some of the most dangerous men I've ever met with were weak ones, driven frantic by their own fears. It happens that Spence isn't really bad. He evidently took a good look at himself and at what they told him to do, and the decent strain in him revolted."

"This Rube Kelton," Millerson asked, "what about him?"

"He'll be taken care of," Waddell said. "And Geer and Garvey too."

Down at the lower end of Summit, a rider on a sweating, hard-run horse came to a stop by the corral. Frank Scorbie stepped from the reeking saddle, and Tim Roach, eyeing the condition of the horse, came around on him angrily.

"You're back before you said you'd be and you punished this animal," he accused.

"It was a necessity I regret, Tim. But I had to get here as quickly as I could. Because a man—a good man—could be needing me."

Rubber Plant to Start Production

By Buff Spooner, Hogan Geer had sent word he wanted to see Spence at the Belle Union. He found Breed Garvey waiting with Geer. They told him they had something else for him to do, and that if he didn't go along with them, they'd see that word of his part in the first specie deal would reach the ears of Jack Millerson.

"The something else you were to do was kill me, wasn't it, Spence?"

Spence gulped again, clasped his shaking hands tighter, nodding.

"And this fellow Kelton was to help you?"

"He—he was going to back me up," Spence mumbled.

"When and where was it to happen, Spence?"

"Tonight, late—in the Hill House alley," Spence blurted. Then his voice shrilled. "But I wouldn't

The French Settled Early in Arkansas

By CLOVIS COPELAND
(State Publicity Department)

The June, 1819 rise of the Arkansas river flooded New Cascony, a settlement of French farmers a few miles before the site of Pine Bluff.

Joseph Bonne, son of a Frenchman and a Quapaw woman, took his rifle and a few possessions and paddled his canoe up the Arkansas toward higher ground.

He pitched his camp in a forest of giant pines, and after the water receded, found that he was perched on a bluff above a southward bending curve of the river.

Before winter set in, he, his wife and several small children were well situated in a log cabin he had constructed. The year before, he had signed the Quapaw Treaty as an interpreter, so he got along well with the Indians in the vicinity. He started a trading post and others settled on the high ground.

The settlement was called Mount Marie.

One of the early settlers was Dexter Harding, a soldier in the War of 1812. He settled on the banks of the beautiful lakes at the base of the high ground and started a sawmill.

The lake was narrow at the point where Harding had his mill and a heavy growth of cypress extended out into the lake. Harding piled sawdust from the mill out into the lake. It formed a bridge which enabled him to get to the cypress. Finally, it extended across the lake and formed the first "bridge" connected the bluff with the land to the south across the lakes.

Walker C. Hudson, Pine Bluff real estate man and former banker, is an authority on the now famous Sawdust Bridge.

"The old-time plantation Negroes believed that the bridge was haunted and that it was the home of ghosts, goblins and spooks, and that the passersby, on dark nights, would encounter formidable fairies, rivaling the ghosts of Macbeth," he wrote.

"At first, it was not much more than a footbridge, but earth was placed on the sawdust; it was widened, and soon became a wagon bridge. Under the tread of pedestrians, the bridge quivered and quaked. With a wagon, it rose and fell like the waves of the ocean. Near the center of the bridge, any noise made or words spoken were echoed.

"On dark nights, a jack-o-lantern or will-o'-the-wisp would take off from the side of the road and go with you for a distance. The spirits of the Indians lurked nearby and met in reunion at certain seasons of the year."

Horses became frightened when they approached the bridge and some folks wouldn't cross it after dark. Eventually the lakes were drained into the river. Property owners along sawdust bridge attempted to make it the main street of Pine Bluff, but their efforts failed. It wasn't that the people believed the tales about the "haunts and spirits", but they just didn't want to cross the bridge.

Pine Bluff, as it became in 1832, wanted to become a city, but its six-block width north and south was a handicap. The city fathers got together and appointed what amounted to the state's first planning commission to solve the problem.

They decided that the superstitious beliefs about the bridge could never be obliterated, so they recommended that the old bridge and road be abandoned and that a new Main street and wooden bridges be constructed

Sentencing of Slayer Postponed

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sentencing of Floyd A. Holzapfel, confessed killer, was postponed indefinitely today at the request of his attorneys.

Ralph Mable and William Pruitt told Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow they wanted to hear testimony by Ross Anderson, assistant director of the State Sheriff's Bureau, before deciding the fate of Holzapfel.

Anderson entered a hospital Sunday with pneumonia.

The attorneys declined to say why they wanted Anderson to appear. Apparently, it would be to show that Holzapfel cooperated in solving the Chillingworth mystery.

The judge continued the case until Anderson is able to testify. Holzapfel has confessed he took Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth from their home and threw them into the Atlantic Ocean off Palm Beach. Their bodies were never found.

He said he did it for Joseph A. Peel Jr., 37, former city judge of West Palm Beach and his 50-50 partner in protection and bolita (numbers) rackets.

Peel was convicted March 30 on a charge that he ordered Holzapfel and Bobby Lincoln, a Negro bootlegger, to kill Chillingworth because he feared the judge was about to expose the rackets.

The jury recommended Peel to the mercy of the court and thus saved him from a death penalty. Circuit Judge D. C. Smith has scheduled April 26 for the delivery of an automatic sentence of life imprisonment.

Cancer Group Calls on JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of the American Cancer Society's 1961 fund-raising campaign called on President Kennedy today and received his good wishes for success.

Wallace W. Tudor of Chicago, chairman of the drive, presented Kennedy a five-foot sword of Hope, made of Hawaiian monkey pod wood.

The sword was provided by the Hawaiian division of the society, newest of its 60 divisions.

Kennedy called attention to the fact that his brother, Edward Kennedy, is heading the fund-raising campaign in Massachusetts.

The society is seeking to raise a minimum of $31,467,570 for research, service to patients, and education of the public and physicians.

Arkansas Asks in Missourians

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Residents of McDonald County, Mo., disgruntled with the Missouri Highway Department, have been invited to become Arkansians.

Washington County Rep. David J. Burleson said today he had written Gov. Orval E. Faubus suggesting Arkansas begin annexation proceedings for the county which claims it was slighted by the Highway Department in being omitted from a new booklet "Missouri's Show Me Family Vacationland."

Some residents of Noel and other southwest Missouri resort towns have proposed secession as a result of the omission.

In his letter, Burleson wrote: "It is interesting to note that if Arkansas annexes this Missouri county, it would to some extent equalize the Missouri Bootheel in southeast Missouri which extends into Arkansas. The annexation would give Arkansas a remarkably similar bootheel extending into Missouri."

Press Group Has a New Manager

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Russell of Little Rock is the new secretary-manager of the Arkansas Press Association.

He succeeds Ray Cooper, who resigned to edit Gov. Orval E. Faubus's Arkansas Statesman.

Russell is a native of Little Rock and a graduate of the University of Arkansas. Until recently he edited a suburban Little Rock weekly, which has quit publication.

several hundred feet west. The city started growing by leaps and bounds. It was incorporated by the Legislature in 1846 and the census of 1850 gave it 450 people. In the decade after the new road was completed, the population tripled.

An increasing number of steamboats began stopping. The hunters and trappers had given way to plantation owners and cotton growers. Within a very short time, Pine Bluff became the state's leading cotton center.

Today, the new Main street is a thriving thoroughfare.

But all trace of the sawdust bridge has vanished, along with the ghosts, goblins, spooks, spirits, alligators and other varments that formerly met on it.

Trading Is Quite Heavy in Stocks

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—More stocks to buy and more persons bidding for them are bringing the nation's stock exchanges heavy trading days and price records.

And the same rush to buy or sell is spilling over into an even bigger market. This is the much larger number of stocks that are traded over hundreds of counters and dealers across the nation.

It adds up to a huge turnover in ownership, to a spreading of stock holding to still more first-time owners.

The very volume of trading helps build up enthusiasm. It is part of the snowballing confidence that of late has sent the stock price averages to new highs.

Stock ownership has mushroomed in the nation in the last 30 years. The public that turned away after getting its fingers burned in 1929—and a large public that was to young then to buy, or not even born—is in the market now in volume.

The number of stocks available also has grown several fold since those earlier days of stock market exuberance. More companies offer stocks, either listed or unlisted. And the big companies have many times the number of shares outstanding they did only 10 years ago, not to mention 30 years ago.

These two factors account for much of the rise in volume on the stock exchanges.

There are 15 million stock owners now to follow the market. They may shift from one share to another that looks better to them. They may add to their holdings, some on a regular buying schedule, or urge their neighbors to consider stock owning as a way of saving or investing.

The examples of those of the 15 million lucky enough to have made big profits, if only on paper, inspire still more to try their luck.

Personal incomes have risen steadily, meaning more money available for stock buying, or other use, after the essentials of life are provided.

And those individuals who put sizable parts of their incomes into pension funds, mutual funds, insurance policies, savings institutions, all are adding to the total of funds available for investing, whether it be in mortgages or in stocks.

California GOPs Want Nixon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A leading California Republican has launched a double-barreled political boom—Richard M. Nixon for governor in 1962 and for president in 1964.

Caspar W. Weinberger, state GOP vice-chairman, said he sees no reason why Nixon couldn't try again for the White House midway in the governor's four-year term.

The former vice president said two weeks ago he has no intention of seeking the state job. But he let it be known last weekend that he'll decide his plans no later than mid-January.

Many Republicans are sure he will run for governor next year. Also Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown has said he thinks so.

Dulles Used Language to Show Anger

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had a knack for making his critics at home and Communists abroad get their teeth. He could convey a sense of violence by the way he used the language.

President Kennedy can say almost the same things—emphasis on almost—and yet manage to look peaceful and restrained.

The Kennedy administration is committed—as the Eisenhower administration was—to a single, paramount assurance: That this country will not start a war.

The policy of both administrations: Keep the Communist world guessing so that it won't know what it will be hit with if it starts aggression.

But Dulles used a phrase he seemed to like—"massive retaliation"—which his critics threw at him for most of his time in the State Department.

It has been said this year that the Kennedy administration has scrapped the idea of "massive retaliation." Kennedy's own statements do not bear this out. He avoided using such a provocative phrase as massive retaliation but still used language which, while it looks much milder, the Communists can interpret as meaning retaliation against them may well be massive if they go too far.

Both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations have emphasized the need for building up local defenses against attacks which might be short of all-out war, although Kennedy has stressed this more.

But Dulles in his dramatic way added this:

"Local defense will always be important. But there is no local defense which alone will contain the mighty land power of the Communist world. Local defense must be reinforced by the further deterrent of massive retaliatory power."

He made this statement Jan. 13, 1954.

Average Work Week Shorter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reported today a modest improvement in one moderate trend of the economic factors, the factory work week. It increased from an average of 38.9 to 39.1 hours from February to March.

Seymour Wolfbein, the department's manpower statistics chief, said, however, that on a seasonally adjusted basis the factory work week actually decreased during the month in durable goods industries while increasing in non-durable goods industries.

The work week in March still averaged 36 minutes shorter than the average a year ago.

At a news conference detailing March job data, Wolfbein reported a large increase in the number of women, particularly women 45

Prisoners Get Only Sandwiches

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—About 700 inmates of the state prison went to bed Monday night with only sandwiches and water under their belts.

Warden Bob Hany locked them in their cells and decreed their fate when they went on a sitdown strike Monday.

"If they want a sitdown strike," he said, "I'll give them a good one."

The warden said the convicts hadn't submitted any grievances to him, "and I wouldn't pay any attention to them if they had."

years or older, entering the work force in the past year.

He said this is probably partly due to women seeking part-time or temporary employment because the main family breadwinner is jobless.

Foreman Bonds to Expand Plant

FOREMAN, Ark. (AP)—Foreman residents voted today on a proposed $7.5 million bond issue to finance expansion of the Arkansas Cement Corp. plant here.

If approved, bonds would be issued under Act 9, a law allowing issuance of revenue bonds for industrial purposes.

The expansion would double the capacity of the cement plant, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., to 2.8 million barrels of cement annually.

The town of Helena had two newspapers in 1835: The State Democrat and the Herald.

Helps Ailing Red

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—A ski-equipped U.S. Navy plane today brought an ailing Soviet scientist to the American Antarctic base at McMurdo Sound after a mercy flight of more than 14,000 miles.

The scientist, Leonid Kupernov, is suffering from chronic stomach ulcers that flared up while he was working with American scientists in Marie Byrd Land, 691 miles from the South Pole.

Herbed Beans Make The Meal

You can make a meal of Herbed Beans or accent and extend summer's barbecued meats, the roasts of winter-time. The simple ingredients are Great Northern beans—that large white grown-in-Idaho variety, plump, tender, full-of-flavor—and a magic blending of herbs with a ham bone cooked in or meat drippings added before serving.

Have you met these unusual Idaho-grown beans—the "Great Northerns" as the attractive bags on your grocer's shelves will read? They are well worth your acquaintance. Obligingly they become salad, soup, meat accompaniment, main course dishes, contributing "Good Eating" not only in food enjoyment.

They, with others of the Bean Family, are some of our richest common sources of protein among foods of plant origin. High in food energy, beans are also good suppliers of B-vitamins and some of the important minerals, iron especially.

Herbed Beans, Idaho Style

You'll need, for 6 substantial servings: 2 cups Idaho Great Northern (large white) dried beans, 6 cups water for soaking and cooking, 1½ to 2 teaspoons salt unless ham bone or rind is used, 1 large onion stuck with 2 cloves, 1 smallish bay leaf, 2 fat cloves of garlic, fresh or dried herbs, pan juices from roast or butter.

To prepare beans: dry beans cooked without soaking take longer to cook and are not so tender as those soaked overnight or by the hot water method. Overnight method: cover washed beans with the cold water. Allow to stand overnight—12 to 15 hours. Or morning method: cover washed beans with the cold water. Bring to boiling point over high heat, boil briskly 2 minutes only. Remove from heat; cover, let stand 1 hour. Use heavy pot with tight-fitting cover.

To cook the beans: for full natural flavor and to save vitamins and minerals, use the soaking water for cooking. Place over high heat. Add 1 teaspoon butter to keep down the foam, and all ingredients except herbs and drippings. Bring to boiling point; cover and reduce heat so that water will simmer. Cook beans about 2 hours or until tender but not mushy. Then stir in 2 to 4 tablespoons snipped fresh parsley and herbs of your choice, from garden or jar. Winter savory, marjoram, thyme make a good combination—about ¼ teaspoon each dried crushed herbs, double for fresh. Or try thyme and oregano or basil. Stir in pan juices from roast leg of lamb or other roasted meat or 3 tablespoons butter. Serve piping-hot.
